

Acknowledgments

Though the names of only two editors appear on the title page, many other individuals have participated in the production of this volume. An extraordinary group of interns—Abigail Rovner, Amanda Daniel, Lisa Coston, Walt Evans, Jennifer Krause, Julianna Boucher, Alison Thurman, and Elizabeth Crowder—has made significant contributions to this and a fourth volume that is in progress. We hope they benefited from their internships as much as we did.

We are grateful to Justice Willis Whichard for writing the foreword for this volume and for what we have learned from his excellent biography of Iredell, Justice James Iredell. We would also like to thank Don Higginbotham, the editor of the first two volumes of the Iredell papers. His work set a high standard for us to follow and provided thorough background information for this volume.

William A. Owens Jr. translated many of the foreign phrases in these letters, and we appreciate his willingness to lend his linguistic skills to the project.

Last but not least we would like to thank two of our fellow editors in the Historical Publications Section for their contributions. Lisa Bailey read the page proofs. Her keen eye and sound judgment improved the final product and saved the editors from embarrassment. In addition, Susan Trimble did a masterful job in typesetting the volume. They both have added much to this book and to other works published by the Historical Publications Section.
